Backstory

Rat King is a rat-human hybrid created through unethical experimentation from a hidden medical facility called KILLDECO. As a child, he fled to the sewers when the lab he was born in was burned down. KILLDECO has been searching for him since to little avail, and for this very reason, Rat King has no information on the nature of his creation.

Rat King was raised in the sewers with rats and exposed to all manner of garbage and filth, where the rats began to worship him as their king and a type of god because of his "immortality" (he is not immortal, but because of their shorter lifespan compared to his human lifespan, he appears to them as such). Rat King grew up without human connections or discipline, and as a result knows little about how to socialize with anybody who isn't a rat.

Personality

Rat King is reclusive, awkward, prideful and aggressive. Being raised by rats has made his behavior functionally that to an animal itself, as he lacks understanding of social cues and often does inappropriate things such as scratching himself with his leg, crawling like a rat, and not using utensils to eat. He lacks situational empathy and can come across as abrasive and even cruel, but it stems from

Abilities

Abilities / Strengths

Fighting Style:

Rat King has no formal fighting training, and everything he knows is either self-taught or a skill his rats have taught him. This means he is incredibly undisciplined and will fight dirty to win with little care for principles and technique. He lacks skills and knowledge, but makes up for it with unpredictability and creative thinking.

Agility and Balance: Rat King has impeccable balancing skills and flexibility. He's perfectly used to navigating sewers and can walk on electrical wires like tightropes. Rat King can slip out of tight spaces easily, which makes restraining him very difficult.

Night Vision: Rat King can navigate dark environments with ease.

Claws and Teeth: Rat King's default means of defense. His claws and teeth can cut through metal or bone.

Speed: Due to his light stature, Rat King has incredible speed and will run circles around his opponents.

Pain Resistance and Invulnerability: Rat King can get injured, but has a very high pain tolerance and can ignore even the most grievous injuries for long periods of time, and does not get tired easily. He also can heal rather quickly.

King Rat Mode: In the most dire of circumstances, Rat King can assume a more aggressive, rat-like form with increased strength. This mode allows him to physically overpower a stronger opponent, but Rat King also can lose control of himself and cause a lot of collateral damage that may not be related to the fight. This form also does not last for long periods of time due to the massive amount of physical and mental strain on Rat King's body required to maintain it.

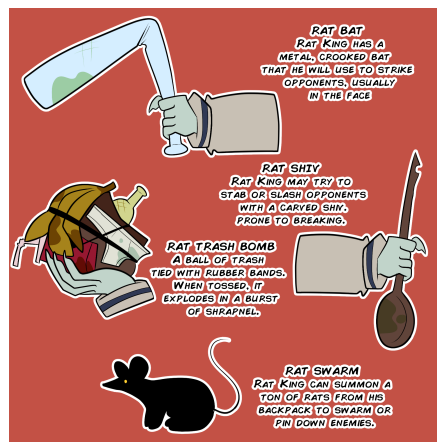

Weaknesses

Fragility: Rat King is not very physically strong and is generally not the healthiest due to living in such squalor conditions his entire life. A stronger opponent who is not dissuaded by his unpredictability could knock him out quite easily.

Lack of Defense: Rat King can be so single-minded towards winning or beating his opponent that he leaves himself open to attacks VERY often. He has a high pain tolerance, but he is not immortal and can be killed.

Lack of Skill: Rat King is a self-taught fighter, and lacks experience and the skills of trained fighters. A skilled opponent could easily cause him to slip up.

Miscellaneous Facts About Rat King

1. Rat King's favorite food is cheese.
2. Rat King cannot drive vehicles. He does not understand how they work and assumes that "parking" the car is the same as crashing it into something.
3. Rat King does not understand money or the concept of stealing, and will gladly take items that he sees lying around that do not belong to him. He will not understand why taking it is wrong until someone reprimands him.
4. Rat King is childhood friends with Guadalupe Lopez, a blogger who records the Summer Leagues. She feeds him any extra food she has.
5. Rat King has a flat affect and struggles with facial expressions. His default face is a blank stare, and his smile is either awkward or unintentionally scary.

6. Rat King struggles to understand why murder is wrong, as he's outlived many rats and is a bit desensitized to death. That being said, if he became friends with someone and they died, he'd definitely grieve them and feel the full weight of it.
 7. Rat King has very poor literacy skills. He can read and write, but not very well and misspells/misreads words.
 8. Rat King has been arrested, but has broken out of prison so many times that the Crossroads authorities just gave up looking for him after a while.
