Abilities / Inventory

Gun

Concealed underneath her coat, Toffee carries an M1911A1. It only has one clip. She struggles at aiming it at long ranges due to her missing eye and will only ever use it if she has been significantly threatened or put in danger.

Lock-pick Set

Toffee has a set of lock picking tools which she is relatively proficient with.

Playing Cards

A standard 52 card deck of playing cards plus an added joker that Toffee uses to pass the time now and then.

The Magatama (Competitor Tag)

A necklace given to Toffee that serves as her tag. In addition to functioning as her tag, it was imbued with a special power to teleport the wearer to other timelines. Once the user is teleported to another timeline with the magatama, they must find a portal leading them back to the original timeline they came from, created by the magatama, which is always located somewhere within walking distance and invisible to anyone besides the wearer. No matter how much time is spent in the new timeline, when they return to the original timeline, the wearer is sent back to the exact spot they left, a fraction of a second past the moment they left, appearing as if they had disappeared and reappeared to any onlookers. As of the time of the audition, Toffee has no ability to activate this power on command or control where it sends her.
