Andrea Reference

I'm feeling uncomfortably sober right now.

-- Andrea, feeling.

Andrea Grant is an infamous scout and hunter in the mining city of Kilak in British enclave within Canada. She struggles with an alcohol addiction and her destiny to inherit the title of the enclave's leader after her father, who is slowly succumbing to a disease, announces his retirement. She sets off for Crossroads to save her father and avoid the terrible future of responsibility.

Appearance

Andrea is an athletic pale woman in her thirties. She has messy medium, black hair with barely noticable red highlights and bangs that often tend to cover her right eye. She is at times referred to as "an ugly duckling" by her sister.

Due to her addiction, her face tends to be abundant in broken blood vessels and her ruby eyes often look bloated and puffy. She is generally perceived as the unattractive one of the two sisters.

She wears a dusty leather jacket on top of a blue turtleneck sweater, tattered jeans, and black military boots. She also wears dark-red leather gloves.

Her pants are fastened by a military belt with her revolver holstered at the front-left side and a flask inside her jacket. She has a silver chained coiled around her right arm.

Personality

Andrea is a foul-mouthed (literally and figuratively) Canadian who struggles with her place in the world so

Abilities

Firearms

Andrea is skilled with most firearms, capable of hitting a moving target a hundred yards away even in the harshest conditions. Her weapon of choice is a modified .44 Magnum – A 6-inch Dan Wesson revolver that has been custom-made to excel in the harshest conditions, be it rain, snow, or magic. It is Andrea's staple that she always has strapped on her belt.

Silver Chain

Coiled around her right arm is a 3-metre-long silver chain. It is soul-bound to Andrea, meaning that she can summon it at will. She tends to use it at close to medium range combat and often combines it with telekinesis to control its behaviour.

Magic

Andrea can use very basic magic like Wards or Telekinesis.

Survivalist

Andrea can easily survive in the wild for months, due to her hunting and tracking capabilities.

Strengths

Dependable

Whenever she is not drunk, Andrea is a very capable and dependable person. She takes any task she undergoes seriously and does her utmost to fulfill the mission.

Brave

Despite former traumas, Andrea is quick to turn fear into anger and determination and is not distraught by unfavourable circumstances.

Improviser

Andrea's occupation relies on her ability to deal with unforeseen circumstances such as weather, strange monsters, or unpaid tab at the bar. By now, she has learned to forgo any manner of planning and learned to think on her feet and trust her instincts.

Weaknesses

Addict

Andrea is an addict; she has difficulty focusing and becomes very irritable if she had not had a drink in a while. She suffers badly from withdrawal to the point it hinders her physical abilities and judgement.

Sceptic

Andrea does not trust people and does not buy whatever they may try to sell (except alcohol). She also does not take easily to far-fetched plans and poorly thought-out ideas.

Loner

Andrea keeps to herself and prefers for it to stay that way. It takes a very specific type of personality to be endeared to her personality and she is aware that she does not make a good company.

Relationships

Octavia Grant

The two sisters love each other although neither will admit it out loud. Octavia worries for Andrea constantly which is the reason why she sends for her so often and while Andrea brushes her off, she appreciates Octavia's attention as she feels like the half-sister is her only friend in the world.

Author's Notes

Can't believe I'm going to fail university because of SLOCT

Octavia Reference

I don't think there's a fashionista capable of making you look good in a dress, but I think you just might pull off a suit.

Appearance

Octavia is a fair-skinned petite and youthful woman in the latter half of her twenties. She wears a light pink duffel coat on top of a beige dress sweater and black leather pants with white Beatle boots as well as white leather gloves. She has long blonde hair that she ties into a ponytail.

Her face is small and round which her sister often compares to that of a hamster. Blue-framed half-moon glasses cover her gold eyes. Octavia puts a lot of value in appearances and starts every day with a tasteful amount of makeup.

Personality

Octavia is an earnest and optimistic woman who wants to leave an impression on everyone she cares about. She has a great interest in different cultures and traditions and tends to approach conversations as if other people's interests were just as grand as hers. She tries to avoid any semblance of physical conflict and looks to mediate arguments, although she often cannot see the bigger picture. She also tends to lose confidence if she cannot guarantee the success or if she cannot do anything to amend the odds.

Abilities

Combat Abilities

None

She's the type of person that takes home all those little packets of salt you get in a restaurant, so she may throw some at you if she feels so inclined.

Strengths

Busybody

Octavia genuinely wants to get to know people; to know what makes them tick. It is more than just a career skill to her, but a way of life.

Educated

Octavia puts a lot of focus on education in one's life. While not a qualified teacher herself, since Kilak does not have any laws prohibiting teaching practice she sometimes gives lectures and classes to youth of the enclave.

Weaknesses

Naivete

Her optimistic outlook on life skewed her perception of reality and tends to see it in blacks and whites, often to the annoyance of others.

Fear of failure

Albeit subdued, Octavia is terrified of disappointing her father or closed ones.
