

Crossguard Guidelines

These two are shining examples of Crossguards, the military group that works directly under the Madame of Crossroads. They protect the town and territory of Crossroads, as well as the Madame's interests. They are trained in hand-to-hand combat, and are very capable in diffusing situations and subduing troublemakers.

The Madame usually has at least one Crossguard (rank not considered) near her when out in public for companionship.

The visors that they wear are given to them by the Madame, and allow Crossguards to see the auras of beings (and the "tails" of competitors).

Once a day, they can pray to the Madame of Crossroads (also known as the God Eater) for a blessing which she may grant-- depending on if she wants to spoil them, or if the blessing piques her interest.

Crossguards can be any race/species or sex, and uniforms are not gender-locked. (Shown uniforms are the "default" for both sexes.) Uniforms may be customized, but should always include:

- Red emblem hat
- Visor -- blindfold, sunglasses, or goggles

- Red jacket
  - Golden suspenders
  - Pants with a red stripe down the outer sides.
-

Revision #2

Created 8 June 2023 23:39:31 by God Eater

Updated 11 September 2023 23:51:44 by God Eater