

Tournament Areas

The main tournament locations in Crossroads.

- Cross Colosseum
- Kit'Inn
- Business District
- Fox Den

Cross Colosseum

The famous Cross Colosseum where The God Eater's Cross Tournament takes place! It features several large screens that broadcast what Miss X is seeing during a fight, as well as a balcony for The God Eater to overlook the events. The Colosseum is connected to the larger building behind it, which includes the Fox Pagoda and Kit'Inn. The Fox Den is to the right of the Pagoda, which is where The God Eater is rumored to slumber...

-- Unknown

Here it is, Cross Colosseum! The place where lives can change in an instant! This round, open-air stadium hosts several entrances encircling the entire structure, for the ease of those spectating. There are four main seating areas (representing the colors of the four gates-- blue dragon, black turtle, white tiger, and red phoenix), as well as private viewing booths for the wealthier audience members. The God Eater has her own balcony to overlook her beloved tournament, front and center!

History

This is where the big show happens--the heart of Crossroads. Miss X and the God Eater host the biggest event of the year! Here, competitors fight to advance to the wish of their dreams.

Miss X loves to rile up the crowds the best that she can--using the large screens that adorn the arena's periphery, she shows off a close-up view of the action. While watching the festivities and fights, audience members snack on commemorative beverages and foods, or shop at the highly stocked souvenir shop. Get yourself a God Eater plushie while you watch! With Tenki's abilities, the Colosseum can become an Ocean, a Desert, a bustling city... even your own mother's house.

In the off-season, or non-fight days, Miss X loves to take over the Colosseum to host one of her many concerts.

Gallery

Cross Colosseum

Chance of a Lifetime

Main inhabitants

On-Season:

- Competitors
- Audience
- God Eater & Miss X

Off-Season:

- Miss X
- Crossguards

Soundscape

Loud boisterous crowds, concert singing (courtesy of Miss X), and the bustle of crowds!

Biome

Fighting Arena

Aesthetic

[Electric/Rowdy/Bright]

Notable Features

Miss X, of course! And the souvenir booth.

Coliseum Palette

Author's Notes

Kit'Inn

The usual crash spot for traveling competitors for the Cross Tournament. It's rumored to be haunted, although customers swear the voices come from another dimension...

--Unknown

After a long day of fighting, training, and exploring Crossroads, finally it's time to crash on the softest bed in the realm. Pillows are always cool here at the Kit'Inn, and the bathrooms are always stocked with those little tiny shampoo bottles that everyone loves. Though... there always seems to be chatter, well into the night...

History

A quaint little Inn where fighters can sleep off their long days and recharge in quiet! The rooms have full amenities--bathrooms, mini fridges, kitchenettes, laundry & drying units-- it's the dream. Rumors have circulated about the possible 'haunting', but any ghosts have yet to be actually seen. Rather, voices and movements are often heard, as if someone in another world is in your room...

The lobby is host to a delicious (and complimentary) coffee bar and lounge! Sit down, have a chat, get ready for the day--you might even see Miss X stop by to check in on her beloved fighters!

Gallery

Kit'Inn

Warriors' Respite

Main inhabitants

Competitors, and Crossguards. Miss X will pop in from time to time!

Soundscape

Quiet atmosphere, the voices of other inhabitants muffled through the walls. Occasional creaks and footsteps, music can be heard from the streets. And was that... knocking on the window?

Biome

Warm, cozy bed and breakfast.

Aesthetic

[Tranquil/Cozy/Otherworldly]

Notable Features

A state-of-the-art coffee bar in the lobby, free of charge!

Kit'Inn Palette

Author's Notes

Business District

Stalls sell the food and wares of traveling merchants closer to the Colosseum, while resident merchants own the buildings closer to the walls.

-- Unknown

The smell of delicious, freshly made food wafts through the air as you peruse a stall for knockoff Miss X plushies with strange-looking faces. The streets are cramped, the buildings are close together, and everything comes to life at night here.

History

During the day, the Business District is not much to look at. This district is a unique blend of historical and modern architecture. Small apartments line the upper floors of buildings, while locally owned shops line the streets. Bakeries, clothing stores, flower shops, cafes, you name it, this district is probably selling it. At night, however, when the brightly lit signs are switched on, is when the fun comes out.

Food vendors set up their stalls and sell food from all different realms. Scalpers in oversized coats sell equally overpriced tickets to the Colosseum, hoping no Crossguards catch their shady business.

Gallery

Business District

Battle of Barterers

Main inhabitants

None

Soundscape

Food vendors cooking, merchants selling their wares, people chatting late into the evening

Biome

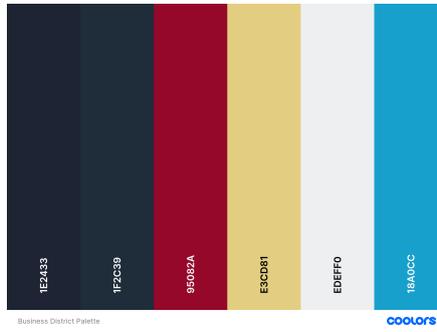

Suburban

Aesthetic

Crowded, Entertaining, Harmonious

Notable Features

The faded, unsold knockoff God Eater plushie with cross eyes, hanging in a shop window.

Business District Palette

Author's Notes

Fox Den

This is the famous bar run by none other than the bartender, Saki. The alcohol served here is widely renowned, and all food is local and fresh daily! There's the regulars' lounge area, then a VIP lounge above, and supposedly The God Eater's special apartment above that.

-- Unknown

A contemporary bar where competitors past and present, winners and losers, gather around to share thrilling stories and a laugh or two. The atmosphere provides a social respite from the crowds of the stadium, a place where one could sit and drink on their own, or join a group of friends, new or old.

History

Run by bartender Saki, the Fox Den is a gathering place for those all over Crossroads. A tourist destination and a local hangout, all at once! Guests can peruse the endless cocktail menu, but be warned, Saki won't serve alcohol to those underage. That's what her endless mocktail menu is for!

Serving as either a patron or a barmaid (often both at once), the Fox Den is Chiifu's usual haunt. She's the resident drunk, feel free to chat with her late into the night! Just be warned, after one too many drinks she starts talking about some pretty peculiar things.

Fox Den

Spirits & Cheers

Main inhabitants

Bartender -- Saki
Patron or Barmaid -- Chiifu
Competitors & people of Crossroads

Soundscape

Quiet music, the chatter of patrons, glasses clinking.

Biome

Modern Bar

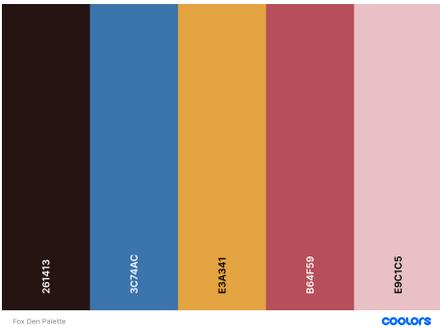

Aesthetic

[Contemporary/Subdued/Friendly]

Notable Features

Saki's endless cocktail menu and wine reserves.

Gallery

Fox Den Palette

Author's Notes
